

Wally Szczerbiak Basketball Camp

for Boys Grades 3-8

August 17-21, 2009

St. Patrick's, Smithtown, NY

Wally Szczerbiak of the Cleveland Cavaliers is a Long Island native from Cold Spring Harbor. He works hard at his game and is a positive role model for what it takes to succeed on and off the court. He is considered to be one of the best shooters in the world! Wally will be sharing his experiences, what it takes to make it to the big time, and what obstacles he has faced along the way. Wally has been named an NBA All Star, was a gold medalist at the USA Goodwill Games in 1998 and 2001, and was part of the 1999-2000 Schick All-Rookie Team. The camp is based on the moves, skills, and drills he works on during the off-season to prepare for the most competitive basketball league in the world.

General Information

John Randazzo (Pro Hoops Director of Youth Development) and Jay Hernandez (Pro Hoops Founder) will be co-directing the camp. The staff will be comprised of hand-selected individuals who have been a part of our summer programs for years, Pro Hoops trainers, and college players. The camp will be held at St. Patrick's, 280 East Main Street in Smithtown from 9am to 3pm. (Early drop off at 8am.) Late pick up will be available up until 4pm for an additional $10. The camp director must be advised of any late pick-ups the day before. Campers will receive a t-shirt or bag, an autograph and photo session with Wally, discounts for basketball-specific products that we use at camp, and more. Drinks and snacks are available for purchase throughout the day. Pro Hoops gear will also be available for purchase throughout the week.
